

Media Release

September 22, 2007

Prism To Highlight Entertainment At Pheasant Classic

One of Canada's Top Bands Highlight Cactus Pheasant Classic Entertainment

Anyone who listened to music in the 70's and 80's will be thrilled that one of that era's favorite bands, Prism, will be part of the entertainment at the Cactus Pheasant Classic World Curling Tour event in Brooks November 1st to 4th.

Prism is still rocking on stage playing outdoor concerts, festivals and clubs. The glory days of 80's Stadium Rock may be gone but Prism continues to deliver on stage wherever they play and will certainly be a major draw at the Cactus Patch in Brooks on Saturday, November 3rd. The band, Prism, brought to the Pheasant Classic courtesy of Snub Force Well Control and The Zoo. For more information about the band, go to www.prism.ca.

Organizers of the Cactus Pheasant Classic will change the Encana Centre into what they have called the Cactus Patch. There will be a stage set up, plus three huge 100 inch TV screens where the curling games from the world's top curlers will be broadcast by CurlTV. Refreshments and entertainment will be part of the Cactus Patch, where people can gather, watch and mingle with other curling fans and the curlers themselves.

Local bands, Strange Brew formerly Love Shovel will entertain on the Cactus Patch Stage Friday night and Full Circle will entertain on Saturday night prior to Prism.

Entertainment coordinators for the Cactus Pheasant Classic Kent and Monika Perry say, "Having these bands, plus world class curling, makes this a complete entertainment weekend."

For more information go to the web page at www.pheasantclassic.com

For more information call

Lawrence Block 793-4841
or Ticki Fisher 793-2479